Senior Class Presents "Lights Out"

The Senior Class of Appomattox High School will present its annual class play Saturday, April 20, 1963, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. The play entitled, "Lights Out' is a mystery — comedy in three acts. The thrilling action will keep you on the edge of your seats at all times, but it is touched with humor which will tickle your funny bones. The story of the play takes place in the late Albert Stilwell mansion. Stilwell's niece, Mrs. Harwood, has returned from the West Coast to dispose of the mansion. She invites guests for the week end, who are prospective buyers of the mansion. But strange things begin to happen that will thrill and chill you.

Mrs. Wiley Morris, sponsor, has been working with the direction of the play. The following is the list of the characters: Agnes Harwood —Barbara Thomas; Doris Harwood —Suzanne Gills; Carl Emerson — Frank Lee Thomas; Vicky Wayne — Mary Lou Jamerson; Helen Freeland — Mary W. Booth; John Bates — Harry Ransom; Susan Bates — Jean Cumby; Neil Parker — Tony Mann; William Patterson Vaughn—Thomas Pankey; Ella Tucker — Doris Bass; and Benny King — Kyle Almond.

This play should prove to be a wonderful evening of entertainment.

Nine File For Town Council

The six seats on the Appomattox Town Council, all up for election this year, are being sought by nine candidates. Deadline was Friday, April 12. John R. Garrett, employed by Whitten Funeral Home in Lynchburg, was the last to file.

Five incumbents have filed: Randolph Gilbert, chairman of the Building and Property committee; Mrs. Calvin H. Robinson, chairman of the Health and Ordinance Committee; Burke Guill, chairman of the Fire committee; Henry Pack, chairman of the Streets and Light Committee and Ivey Holland, chairman of the Account and Finance committee.

Also filing are Richard L. Wingfield, former acting postmaster of Appomattox and now with General Electric in Lynchburg; Ewen T. Mitchell, former deputy sheriff under H. Winston McKinney; and Harry G. Johnson, former councilman.

Local FFA Team Places Second

The Appomattox FFA Chapter placed second in the annual Hub Evaporator Degree Team contest held Tuesday April 9, at William Campbell High School. William Campbell FFA team placed first with Rustburg FFA Chapter placing third.

The degree team contest is a leadership activity of the FFA. In participating in the contest,

"Joe Sweeney"

Phil Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Twyman Coleman, Appomattox, will take the part of young Joe Sweeney, well known banjo player of the Confederacy, who was born and reared in this county. As "Joe Sweeney," Phil will be part of the 225 member cast in an annual presentation of the History of Appomattox to be seen tonight in the auditorium of the Appomattox Elementary School.

'64 Wheat Program Offers Small Growers Choice

Farmers with allotments of less than 15 acres will continue to produce their historical share of wheat as provided by the 1964 wheat program, J. A. Martin Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation of Appomattox County Committee, said today. The new legislation enacted last fall recognizes the contribution of such growers to the Nation's supply of wheat.

As explained by the Chairman each farm will have an allotment based on the larger of one computed from the average wheat acreage (up to 15 acres) in the 3 years 1959-61 or the regular allotment. Wheat grown on farms without a wheat history in these 3 years will be subject to a marketing quota penalty in 1964.

The new wheat program will offer two choices to the farm operator with a 1964 wheat allotment of less than 15 acres:

1. He may choose to participate in the program as an allotment grower, in which case he will be eligible to vote in the wheat referendum, will qualify for price support, and will receive his share of the marketing certificates. (The certificates will provide a higher rate of price support and will be available on about 80 percent of the normal yield on the allotted acreage. A lower rate of support will be available on the rest of the wheat produced on the farm.) A small grower will also have the opportunity to divert all his allotment to conserving uses at the high 50 - percent rate.

2. He can stay out of the program, and plant wheat up to the larger of his 3-year base or his 1964 allotment. Marketing quota penalties will apply to wheat in excess of this limit. He will not be eligible to vote in the referendum. He will receive no price support. He can sell his wheat at the non - certificated wheat market price, or as seed or feed, or use it in any way that he likes.

Mr. Martin pointed out that these small farm operators with wheat allotments of less than 15 acres will be asked to register their choice at the ASCS County Office May 31 which is 7 days prior to the May 21 date when the wheat referendum is held. The program will become effective if at least two - thirds of the growers voting approve the program in the referendum.

Complete First Aid Course

Allen Franklin, of Appomattox, stands at the far left beside this group of Oakville-Stonewall residents who have just completed a standard First Aid course at the Oakville elementary school. This is one of many such courses taught by county Rescue Squad members. The course takes five weeks, usually, with a total of 10 hours instruction. Splints, care of the injured, common emergencies, and emergency transportation, are among the many subject covered. Successful graduates are Miss Jackie Cobb, Mrs. Katie Martin, Mrs. Gaynelle Martin, Mrs. Elsie Lucado, and Mrs. Kathryn Alvis, on the front row. Behind them stand Calvin Tanner, John Alvis, Monroe Dyess, Ray Page, Buster Lucado, Curry Harvey, and Bill Williamson. Reverend Keith Whitehead and Robert Lucado were unable to be present for the photo.

Six New Cases Hepatitis Reported Tues.

Six new cases of hepatitis reported Tuesday by the county health department brings the total to 80 since the epidemic started in August, 1962. Seven cases were on record at the close of 1962.

The greatest number of cases reported in one year, previous to the present all - time high, was 46 in 1954.

Dr. Francis Clements has said that the disease is apparently caused by a virus which is transmitted in "washing machine water, bath water, kitchen waste or other human waste.' Humans get the disease by swallowing the virus, he said. The county health is urging a county - wide effort toward better sanitation. Staff members, have pointed out that waste wiker dumped on the ground where humans or animals can track through it—plus inadequate septic tanks and poorly located drain fields have been found in several instances where hepatitis has been diagnosed.

Richmond Firm Will Engineer Sewage Lagoon

Hankins and Anderson, Richmond engineers, will do the engineering survey necessary to construction of a proposed sewage lagoon for Appomattox, Town Council decided Monday night.

60 Days to Complete

Mayor Lawson said that Hankins and Anderson, low bidders for the contract, said that they could complete plans and specifications within 60 days after receiving Council's approval. Lawson reported that their bid was a fixed amount whereas some firms bidding for the job based their fees on a sliding scale to depend on actual final construction costs for the lagoon.

Need a Tanker

Councilman Henry Pack reported that C. R. (Skinney) Woodbridge, volunteer fireman, has asked for a tanker to carry water as additional equipment for the Fire Department. Council voiced the opinion that fire hydrants now protect all areas of town, but Mayor Lawson said, "If there is any place in town which cannot be reached by fire hydrants we need to know it and to install such hydrants immediately"

Councilman Burke Guill and his Fire Department committee were asked to investigate further, and to assist the firemen in any way needed to carry on their work.

Dump Project

Town Manager Charles Hunter said that the modified land fill and clea n up project at the Town - County dump should be completed within 30 days. Councilmen were told that people are still dumping trash outside the dump and along the roadside leading to it.

To Paint Water Tank

The Old Dominion Tank and Iron Company, with a bid of $869, will paint the larger of the town's two water tanks. The words, "Historic Appomattox" will be repainted, also, councilmen were told. Other estimate for the paint job ranged as high as $1500, the mayor said.

Town Map

Mayor Lawson reported that David Wood, of Lynchburg, said that he could prepare a town map showing water and sewer lines from a map available from the Appomatox Telephone Company.

The only map of the town at the Town office is a 1939 map showing only sewer lines. "We don't have any reference at all to sewer lines, as to the size of the lines or what side of the street they are located," Lawson said. He added that this project is an outgrowth of conversations with the county sanitarian, G. A. Pitzenberger, who is planning a town survey of health needs in conjunction with a state health officer from Richmond. The Health Department has told council, Lawson said, that any questions of interest to the town can be included in that survey.

Building Permits

Lee - Grant Realty Corp. was granted a permit to construct an apartment building behind the present location of the old Jamerson home on Church Street. A new dead - end street is being opened up by the owners, councilmen were told.

Garbage Truck

Councilman Henry Pack reported on prices of new and used hydraulic and chain operated garbage pick - up trucks. Prices range from $2500 to $4800, he said with a wide variety of sizes, new and used, available.

Appomattox Clean-Up, Fix-Up Weeks—April 22 To May 4

by the Mayor of Appomattox
Dr. S. R. Lawson

I think we can safely say that spring has finally arrived, and with the coming of this beautiful season, we should all make a special effort to clean out and clean - up all of the old debris and trash that has accumulated during the past few months.

The two weeks from April 22nd through May 4th have been declared as our annual clean-up, paint-up, and fix-up campaign. During these two weeks the regular pick up of garbage will continue on Mondays and Thursdays as usual. Trash will also be picked up at this time.

If, at other times during this period, you have trash that cannot be burned or disposed of, call the Town Manager's office and arrangements can be made to have the town pick it up.

Many tourists and visitors will be visiting and traveling through Appomattox during the next few months. Nothing is more impressive than to see a clean town and surrounding area.

There are many eye sores in and around our town that could be cleaned up and fixed up with very little trouble to the property owners. I hope that all of the business places and property owners will take a second look around their homes and businesses, and do whatever they can to clean - up and fix - up their property. You will be doing yourselves and your town a great favor and service.

I know each of you will do your part in keeping our town and streets clearn.

Thanking you kindly,

S. R. Lawson
Mayor

New Pipeline Equipment, Workers Are Arriving Here

Forty foot sections of pipe are shown being lifted from a flat car to a waiting truck. These pipe sections will be taken to a "pipe field" at Pamplin, until next month when construction will start on the pipeline from Brookneal to Cooksville, Maryland, part of the system that will stretch from Texas to New York.

Indians To Automobiles

Pageant Of Appomattox Will Be Seen Tonight

More than 225 pupils of the Appomattox Elementary School are once again making last minute preparations with costumes and makeup to present tonight a pagean, The History of Appomattox. An original production, it is the work of their principal, Miss Flora Belle Williams, who plans to produce it during each of the centennial years of the Civil War.

Tonight at 8 is the regular meeting time of the Elementary PTA, but all interested persons are invited. There is no admission charge.

The pageant is a story of Appomatox county from the time when Indians, the tribe of Appamattucks, roamed its woods until the present time. History, industry, humor, music and dancing all have their part in portraying Appomatox and its people.

An interesting historical note in the pageant is reference to the fact that Appomattox was once known as Nebraska because settlers moving westward thought that upon reaching Appomatox, they had traveled a great enough distance to be in Nebraska, their destination.

An item to be used in the pageant, which merits special attention, is the money belt given to Joe Sweeney by Queen Victoria of England in recognition of Sweeney's musical ability when he appeared before the queen.

Sweeney is known as having perfected the banjo as we know it is now. Leo Conner, grandson of Duval Conner, the owner of the bell, will wear it in the pageant. The family of Wilmer McLean will be portrayed as will the well-known scene of Lee and Grant seated in McLean's home.

Pupils from each room, under the direction of their teachers, were given specific scenes for which they are responsible and will provide the audience with an evening of history with particular stress on the authenticity of facts presented and costumes used. The students from the primary grades acquaint the audience with Appomattox County of today.

300 Workers Need Homes, Trailer Space

Houston Contracting Company, of Houston, Texas, has set up headquarters in a trailer on Rt. 460 near the Appomattox Ballpark, and the gigantic task of bringing in pipe, digging equipment, and men to lay 191 miles of pipeline has begun.

Colonial Pipeline

Colonial Pipeline Company, of Atlanta, Georgia, is the builder of a 1600 mile pipeline from Texas to New York to haul petroleum products. The line touches the southeastern tip of Appomattox County, with Houston Contracting Company responsible for the laying of pipe from a point near Brookneal, northeast to Cooksville, Maryland, about 25 miles west of Baltimore.

R. L. Sliar, job superintendent, said Monday that nearly 5 acres of pipe will be stacked in Pamplin befoe actual construction starts the first of May.

300 Workers Expected

Nearly 300 workers will be used on the project, office manager D. L. Marley said. About 100 of these may be local labor. Other workers, about 200 of them, will need homes, furnished apartments, rooms, and space to park trailers for the three months they will be here.

Marley also stated that Appomattox was chosen for the base of operations in this area because "we felt Appomattox could handle us, having had pipe liners before." He referred to the pipe laying operations of TransContinental Gas Company.

Five Acres of Pipe

Stacked in neat piles at the Bortuai Lumber Company is the 40 foot and 60 foot lengths of Kaiser steel pipe being used for the project. Sufficient pipe is brought in by rail to lay about 25 miles — then another pipe "yard" is utilized to lay the line further on. Similar pipe yards as the one in Pamplin are being set up in Dillwyn, Mineral, Bealeton, Arvonia — and other locations, a total of eleven.

Need for Apartments, Homes

Biggest need of the contractors, locally, is for housing accomodations, Marley said. General superintendent W. H. Bruyere said that motels would be crowded — that hardware store items would be in great demand. "We may use up an entire stock of hardware needs while we're here," he said. He mentioned the high replacement rate on a pipeline project, such as shovels, picks, metal fittings, etc.

New Language Heard

As the unloading scene in Pamplin, and at Burrus Lumber, pipe line haulers of Parkhill Trucking, Tulsa, Oklahoma, uses a language peculiar to the trade. And local residents may hear bends", "over bends" and "the spread". which means the entire project of clearing the right of way, digging a trench, welding

Win Wildlife Essay Awards

Four Appomattox elementary school pupils won prizes in the Wildlife Essay Contest sponsored this year by the Virginia Game Commission and the Virginia Division of the Izaak Walton League of America. Each essay was entitled, "The Importance of Conservation Education in the School Curriculum." Suzanne Guill, daughter of the R. A. Guills; Jean Holt, daughter of the Hugh E. Holts, Spout Spring; and Larry Smith, son of the Fred C. Smiths, Appomattox, above, each won special mention and a $5 check. A third place winner was Linda Grinels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grinels, who took home $15.00 and the congratulations of principal Miss Flora Belle Williams, who is shown presenting checks to Linda and the others in her office.
